Mayor Moffatt Signs Monarch Pledge!

For the third year in a row, the Environmental Commission is pleased to announce that Mayor Robert Moffatt has committed Cape May Point to supporting the National Wildlife Federation Mayors' Monarch Pledge. <https://www.nwf.org/mayorsmonarchpledge>

Through this pledge, cities/municipalities promise to "create habitat for the monarch butterfly and pollinators, and to educate residents on how they can make a difference at home and in their community." As you may know, since 1990 the eastern population of monarchs has declined by 90% and western populations by 99%, making this commitment particularly important and timely.

In the coming months, expect continuing educational material concerning the Mayors' Monarch Pledge from the Cape May Point Environmental Commission. There are several ways individual residents can contribute to helping save the monarch population, as well as steps our community is taking toward this goal.
